2.	The harbor oil pump is about 30 feet wide and long enough to handle two boats on one side of approximately 12,000 tons dead weight and three on the other side. Two Soviet tankers of about 12,000 tons dead weight came into the harbor, were loaded, and departed immediately. It was obvious that the Soviet vessels enjoyed a loading priority. The harbor agent said the Soviet vessels had taken on benzine (gasoline) for Batum.
